BASIC FUNCTION:

The University of Rhode Island is the state's flagship land and sea-grant research institution committed to urban initiatives. A student-centered research institution, URI actively partners with other organizations globally and locally to advance knowledge and develop leaders. URI is dedicated to community engagement, excellence in education, and solving the world's most critical challenges. Situated on the traditional land and territories of the Narragansett Nation and the Niantic People along the Atlantic Ocean, URI strives to create a diverse and inclusive environment for researchers, teachers, learners, and community members.

The College of Pharmacy, located on the main campus in Rhode Island's southernmost region, is a welcoming and inclusive community of scholars. With a vision to "Advance Health and Transform Communities," The College community seeks to pursue lives of service and intellectual exploration to solve scientific challenges and deliver progressive interdisciplinary healthcare with compassion and intention. The Department of Biomedical and Pharmaceutical Sciences, with its long history of pursuing scholarly excellence in natural products chemistry, is committed to mentoring and training outstanding researchers, scholars, and future leaders. We invite applicants who share our vision and are interested in expanding our community of scholars to collaborate and inspire one another in teaching, research, and service. The College of Pharmacy supports a dynamic research enterprise and is routinely ranked in the top 10% of pharmacy schools in extramural research funding. The college has extensive partnerships with research centers and health systems across Rhode Island, Eastern and Central Massachusetts, and Eastern Connecticut, including the Rhode Island IDeA Network of Biomedical Research Excellence (RI-INBRE), Advance Rhode Island Clinical and Translational Research (Adv RI-CTR), Centers of Biomedical Research Excellence (COBRE), Brown University, and the Veterans Affairs Providence Healthcare System.
