Assistant Professor (CHS) or Associate Professor (CHS) in the Pharmacy Practice & Translational Research Division.

Applicants for this position must hold a PharmD of equivalent terminal degree and be eligible for Wisconsin pharmacy licensure. Candidates must have completed a PGY2 pharmacy residency, PhD training, fellowship, or have equivalent clinical or academic experience. Preference will be given to individuals with expertise and/or research interests in oncology. This may include, but is not limited to precision medicine, immunotherapy, pharmacotherapeutic outcomes and/or informatics.

Responsibilities include classroom instruction in practice-related courses within the school's Doctor of Pharmacy program, establishment of an independent research program in the individual's area of expertise, and collaborations leading to a sustained program of publishable scholarly work. Another important responsibility is the development of a clinical practice (4-8 hours per week) that may include opportunities through the continuum of cancer care.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison is a world-class academic institution that encourages, values, and supports basic, applied, and interdisciplinary research and attracts scholars and students from around the world. The School of Pharmacy is located adjacent to the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, the 505 bed UW Hospital and Clinics, the William S. Middleton Memorial Veterans Hospital, the 111 bed American Family Children's Hospital, the UW Carbone Cancer Center, the Center for Human Genomics and Precision Medicine, and the Department of Biostatistics and Medical Informatics. The UW Carbone Cancer Center is a National Comprehensive Cancer Network Member and an NIH NCI-Designated Cancer Center. The world headquarters of the Epic electronic medical records corporation is located 10 miles from the School of Pharmacy.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Pharmacy PharmD program is among the best in the nation, consistently ranking in the top ten US News and World Report's "Best Graduate Schools". The School of Pharmacy also hosts vibrant graduate student programs and an undergraduate degree program in Pharmacology and Toxicology. The School of Pharmacy and surrounding medical center complex are contiguous with the main campus of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, providing ready access to collaborators and research-related resources across the campus, as well as fitness centers, downtown entertainment and fine dining. The University's retirement system is robust and well-funded. As both the State capitol and home of the University of Wisconsin, Madison is a vibrant city boasting year-round, world class recreational and entertainment opportunities, and convenient regional and national transportation options.

All applications should be received by December 13, 2024, to ensure full consideration, with the appointment starting on or around June 29, 2025. Applicants should upload a cover letter that
